

TAG HEUER CARRERA
SKIPPER CHRONOGRAPH

A RETURN TO THE HIGH SEAS

Made in various series from the original version of 1968 to the final full production model of 1983, the Skipper was once a familiar sight on the wrists of professional and amateur sailors alike – and exactly 40 years after it disappeared from the TAG Heuer catalogue, the beloved Skipper is back.

KEY FEATURES

SIGNATURE GLASSBOX DESIGN

Integrating the distinctive 'glassbox' design featured on the TAG Heuer Carrera, the watch sports an ultra-clear curved glass flange from edge to edge, offering rapid time-telling, even while taming the strong ocean winds.

DIAL

Set against the Signature Carrera Blue dial, the three-color regatta countdown indicator combines a vivid orange segment alerting the crew on the 5 minutes remaining before departure, a green one to recall the boat's rigging, and light teal to echo the color of the Intrepid's deck - the America's Cup boat that inspired the original Skipper watch in 1968. The perfect blend of style and function.

MOVEMENT

Crafted for high-performance like every TAG Heuer sports watch, the Skipper edition integrates the Calibre TH20-06 movement with bi-directional winding and 80 hours of power reserve. All set to sail the seven seas with absolute confidence.

BRACELET

The timepiece comes with a high-end, resistant textile strap.

SUPER-LUMINOVA®

The hands are treated with Super-LumiNova®, which ensures optimum legibility in any conditions, day or night.

For the 1967 America's Cup match, Heuer became the official timing partner of the "Intrepid" boat, and provided the crew with a set of hand-held yachting stop watches and equipped her crew with Aquastar wrist watches. The Intrepid went on to win the event by a decisive four races to nil – in celebration of which Heuer produced the Skipper chronograph.
