THE FIRST PORSCHE 911 CARRERA

Revealed on October 5th, 1972, at the Paris motor show, the Porsche 911 Carrera RS 2.7 is still very popular among collectors, an iconic sports car that, much as the TAG Heuer Carrera, blended racing spirit, performance, and elegance in a new way.

Designed for racing and rallying, the "Carrera RS" was the first Porsche 911 dedicated to motorsports and nicknamed "Carrera", a name that struck Jack Heuer's imagination when he first heard about the Carrera Panamericana.

KEY FEATURES

LIMITED EDITION

This timepiece is limited to 250 pieces, marked XXX/250. The refined case is 18K 5N rose gold, as are the crown, pushers, and screw-down sapphire case back.

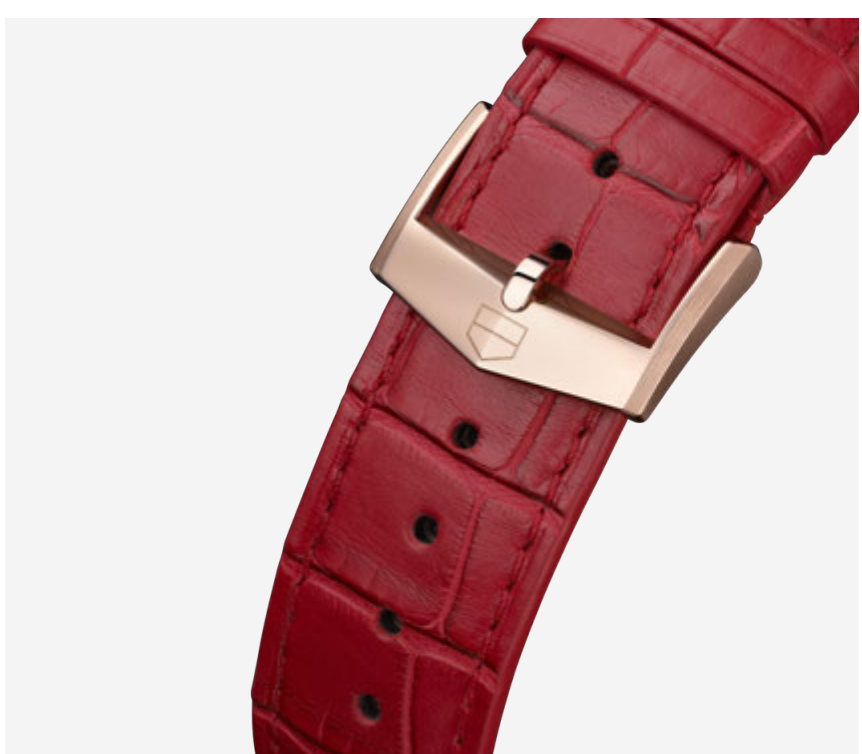

DIAL

The shimmery white dial is framed with a circular line and features rose-gold colored applied indexes, permanent second indicator and hour and minutes hands. The fiery signature Porsche color is also present in subtle red touches on the chronograph and seconds hands, sub-counter markings and seconds scale on the flange.

CASEBACK

The Calibre Heuer 02 visible through the case back is engraved with sleek black markings.

BRACELET

Complementing this sophisticated case is a luxurious red alligator strap with a rose gold-plated pin buckle.

SUPER-LUMINOVA®

The indexes, hours and minutes hands are rhodium-plated with white Super-LumiNova® for optimal readability.
